DINGMAN'S DAIRY RECIPE GUIDE

SAFE HANDLING AND STORAGE

It's important to follow all manufacturers' guidelines regarding the safe handling and storage of all the products used in the production of your creations.

Equipment temperatures:

Refrigeration units 35-40 degrees Fahrenheit.

Storage Freezers -5 to 0 degrees Fahrenheit.

Tempering Freezers & Dip Cases 5-8 degrees Fahrenheit.

Flash/Blast Freezers -20 degrees or lower.

GETTING STARTED

Batching ice cream starts with washing, rinsing, and sanitizing the disassembled batch freezer components, containers and utensils allowing them to air dry.

Sanitize prep tables, work area, and front surface of batch freezer.

Once dry, reassemble the batch freezer and prepare a bucket of sanitizer to run with the dasher on in the batch freezer.

Drain out all the sanitizer. (Do not rinse with water after sanitizing).

*All starting point usage amounts for batching ice cream are based on using 2.5 gallons of 14% plain mix. Increase usage if using mix with higher butterfat.

BATCHING

Bring your ingredients, utensils, and containers to your work area.

If you are batching a flavor for the first time, we suggest using the following steps.

Pour 2.5 gallons of mix into a sanitized 3-gallon bucket.

Add the suggested usage of the chosen base and or flavor to the mix and whisk.

Taste the mixture, add base or flavor in small amounts as desired recording total measured amounts.

Make sure the gate on batch freezer door is closed.

Pour mixture into batch freezer. Turn on the dasher.

Turn the freezer switch on.

Once desired consistency and texture are achieved turn off the freezer but leave the dasher on.

Place a sanitized 2.5-gallon tub under the gate, fill the tub one third of the way and close the gate.

Add any variegates or inclusions, using a spatula to blend by pushing down and cutting across. (do not stir)

Repeat until the tub is full.

Cover with parchment paper and lid. Place in flash freezer immediately.

Normally ice cream will harden in 12 hours while some leave product in for 24 hours.

Once freezing is complete, the product should be moved to a storage or tempering freezer.

BATCHING DAIRY FREE OPTIONS

Dairy free options have experienced significant growth due to various factors such as increased awareness of lactose intolerance, dietary preferences, health concerns, and environmental considerations.

There are several dairy free options listed in this booklet.

All starting point usage amounts should be adjusted as desired.

Dairy free options tend to produce a dense finished product with less overrun than ice cream.

Adjustments to storage and serving temperatures may be necessary.

Experiment with flavors, inclusions, & variegates to create unique offerings.

Your biggest mistake may be your next new favorite.

Have fun!
